This course explores your interests in the field of medical anthropology.

- You will learn the fundamental principles and key concepts of the field of medical anthropology.
- You will have the opportunity to develop an applied medical anthropological project or proposal of your choice.
- You will participate in online discussion board sessions with your classmates.
- You will view online videos that illustrate how medical anthropology can help solve public health and medical issues.
- You will learn how medical anthropologists work with other health related and medical experts.

Professor: Dr. Eric Bailey
Class Meets: asynchronous online course
BAILEYE@ECU.EDU